Clarke's Mathematical and Physical Tables will be supplied to candidates offering Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geography, Electrical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering under the New Regulations of the Intermediate Examination and to those taking groups (i) and (ii) of the Intermediate (Old Regulations) and B.A., B.Sc. (Ag.), B.Sc. Part II, B.A. (Honours) Groups I and II, and M.A. Groups 1, 2—Engineering and B.Sc. Degree examinations only—

An 'exempt' fee of one guinea equivalent to the cost of a copy of Mathematical Tables should be deposited with the Chief Superintendent by each student requiring the use of such books, the amount to be refunded on the book being returned. The net price of each book is 5 shillings.

9. Candidates for the B.A. Degree Examinations under Groups (i)-(A), (i)-(B) and (ii) are required to bring their laboratory note-books both in the main and the subsidiary subjects to the Examinations commencing on the first day of the practical examination, and to set them back at the close of the examination. This instruction applies only to candidates appearing from colleges.

10. Candidates are required to provide themselves with their own pens. Candidates may bring into the examination hall their own ink bottles. They must, however, use only black ink while answering their question papers.

11. Particular attention is requested to the instructions regarding rough working and loose sheets of paper printed on the answer books. All rough working must be shown on the left-hand page of the answer books themselves. No separate book for rough working will be supplied to candidates. Paper must not be detached from the answer books of candidates. If the ordinary answer books are found insufficient, additional books will be allowed and these should be securely fastened to the answer books.

12. When the halls are empty the following alternative procedure may be adopted—At the end of the period prescribed for each particular part of the examination the candidates should at once fold their answer books, leave them in evidence at their places, vacate their seats, retire to the passages between the tables and save out of the hall in order and, in silence, the Superintendents being meanwhile stationed in positions from which they may command a good view of the books accumulated in their cases; where all the candidates have moved out, the Superintendents will collect the answer books.

13. Communication to the Registrar from candidates regarding information relating to the results of examinations will not receive attention until after the publication of the results in the First List, Second Sheet.

14. The hall tickets of candidates sitting for the examinations at Madras will be ready for distribution at the Senate House three days before the date of each examination. Candidates sitting for the examinations at centres other than Madras should apply to the Chief Superintendent of the respective centre for their hall tickets.

15. No college student will be allowed to select a centre for his examinations, other than that in which the College, he studies, is situated, except for satisfactory reasons and on the recommendation of the Principal of his College.

16. Candidates appearing at centres where they are not known must be prepared to satisfy the Chief Superintendent of such centres as to their identity. BILL No. 16 OF 1928.

A Bill for the Suppression of Brothels and Immoral Traffic.
 To

THE HONOURABLE THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR OF MADRAS.

WE, the undersigned members of the Select Committee appointed on 12th October 1925 to consider the Bill of Mr. K. R. Venkataswami Ayyar for the suppression of brothels and immoral traffic (Bill No. 16 of 1928), have the honour to submit the following report.

1. The Bill was introduced on 5th September 1928, and under rule 20 of the Madras Legislative Council Rules it was duly published in the Fort St. George Gazette in English on 2nd October 1928, in Tamil on 18th November 1928,

 in Telugu on 30th October 1928,

in Malabar and Kannur on 6th November 1928, in Hindustani on 20th November 1929, in Oriya on 12th February 1929.

3. As it was necessary for the purpose of deciding on the adequacy of the provisions contained in the Bill and the directions in which they required alterations, to collect information on various matters connected with the Bill, the Committee resolved at its meeting, dated 14th November 1921, to issue a questionnaire to selected witnesses regarding its provisions. The questionnaire was accordingly issued to 52 witnesses of whom 52 witnesses sent in their replies. At the next two meetings of the Committee held on 27th January 1923 and 26th February 1923 respectively, the Committee selected the witnesses for oral examination, and between the 8th and 11th April 1923 examined 50 witnesses. On the 22nd and 23rd July 1923, the Committee met to discuss the provisions of the Bill, and on 16th August 1923, it passed its report.

4. We have effected important changes in the provisions of this Bill. Clause 2 of the Bill provides that the Act shall apply only to the City of Madras in the first instance and empowers the Local Government, on application from any municipal council, local board or otherwise, to extend by notification all or any of its provisions to any other local area with such verbal modifications as it may consider necessary. We consider that the evil which this Bill is intended to combat calls for immediate remedy no less in the mofussil than in the city. The bulk of the evidence before us and all the evidence from the mofussil witnesses are in favour of extending the provisions of the Bill to the whole Presidency. Nor are there any practical difficulties in so extending it. We have accordingly substituted for the existing clause 2 a clause to the effect that the Act shall apply to the whole of the Presidency of Madras.

5. Clause 3 sought to repeal sections 52 and 71 (xx) of the Madras City Police Act. Section 52 of the Madras City Police Act in effect empowers the Commissioner of Police to order the owner or tenant of a house, on being intimated that such house is used as a brothel or lodging house for prostitutes or disorderly persons and is a source of nuisance and offence to neighbours, to discontinue such use of it. The reason why section 52 was sought to be repealed by this Bill was evidently that under clause 5 of the Bill, power was to be given to the Commissioner of Police to take in respect of brothels the same measures vide also as he could under section 52 of the Madras City Police Act. The Committee has unanimously resolved to delete clause 5 and to substitute in its stead a clause penalizing the keeping or managing of a brothel. It is therefore necessary to retain section 52. Even if clause 5 had been retained, it would have been necessary to retain the section in respect of disorderly houses. As for section 71 (xx), it deals with solicitation in a public street or place, which has been provided for by clause 12 of this Bill. It may therefore be repealed. The result is that clause 5 will refer to section 71 (xx) only and not to section 52.

6. In clause 4, we have introduced certain new definitions. In an enactment of this kind it seems desirable that even such ordinary words as 'prostitution' and 'prostitute' should be defined so that they may not be understood in different ways by different courts. We have accordingly defined these words.

As the Act has been made applicable to the whole of the Presidency of Madras, it has become necessary to include provisions in the Bill empowering the District Superintendent of Police in the maulana to exercise the functions conferred upon the Commissioner of Police in the City of Madras. A definition of 'Superintendent of Police' has accordingly been inserted in the Bill.

The definition of the 'City of Madras' has been deleted as unnecessary, and a new definition has been introduced stating that a 'Magistrate' shall mean a salaried Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class, inclusive of the Commissioner of Police in the City of Madras who is a Magistrate of the first class.

7. The existing clause 5 of the Bill consists of eight sub-clauses, and lays down a complicated procedure in regard to the suppression of brothels. According to it, on receipt of information that any house, room or place is being used as a brothel, the Commissioner of Police may first issue a notice to show cause why its use as a brothel should not be discontinued. On the date fixed for hearing, he may, if satisfied after such enquiry as he deems fit that the house, room or place is used as a brothel, issue an order in writing directing that such use of the premises be discontinued from a date not less than fifteen days from the date of the order. If, in spite of such order, it is found on enquiry that such use is continued, he may order that the house, room or place be closed and quitted within a period of seven days. Any person disobeying the orders of discontinuing or quitting as aforesaid is liable to be convicted and punished. And, finally, it lays down that the owner or lessee of any house, room or place in respect of which an order has been made on the lease, tenant or occupier thereof in the aforesaid manner, shall have powers forthwith to determine the lease, tenancy or occupation. We consider that the procedure laid down by this clause is too dilatory to be of any effect. It will also involve much more work than the Commissioner of Police can cope with. We understand that there are nearly 500 or 600 brothels in the City of Madras, and it would be impossible for the Commissioner of Police to conduct the necessary enquiries demanded by the clause or efficiently to carry out the orders passed by him. Both the previous Commissioner of Police and the present Commissioner of Police, who were members of our Committee, are of opinion that the provisions of the clause are wholly impracticable.

Further, a mere order that a particular place be not used as a brothel or be quitted or closed, though accompanied by a penalty for default, would only drive the brothel-keeper to another place which in its turn could be dealt with only by the same procedure of notice to quit. It would thus be possible for a brothel-keeper to ply his trade continuously by simply moving from place to place, from time to time. We consider that the most effective way of dealing with this evil is to punish brothel-keeping as such, and we have accordingly inserted in the place of sub-clauses (i) to (vi) of existing clause 5 a provision penalising the keeping or management of a brothel or the conscious use of premises as a brothel.

For the protection of innocent landlords, we have expressly provided that it is only in cases where a lessee or a landlord lets his premises to a tenant or occupier already convicted under this clause with the knowledge that they are to be used as a brothel or where he is wilfully a party to the use of his premises as a brothel, that he shall be liable under this clause. We have also armed him with power to determine the lease, tenancy or occupation in cases where the lessee, tenant or occupier has been convicted under this clause, notwithstanding any other law or any conditions to the contrary in the lease.

8. Clause 6 empowers certain officers of the City Police to enter into any dwelling, disreputable house or place of congregation if he has knowledge or suspicion or reason to believe from a report made to him that a girl apparently under the age of 18 years is living or is carrying on or is being made to carry on the business of a prostitute and to remove such girl forthwith from such premises. The power of entering the house and removing therefrom a girl of less than 18 years on the ground that the house is a house of ill-fame is a serious one, and as we are extending the Bill to the mofussil we consider that it should be carefully safeguarded from the possibility of abuse. In the interests of innocent citizens and to protect the police themselves from false allegations of abuse of power it is desirable that this power of entry and removal should be restricted to cases where a warrant has been issued by a magistrate. We have accordingly made the necessary changes in the clause so as to render it necessary to obtain a warrant of entry and removal from a magistrate before the police can enter a house or remove a girl therefrom. In the City of Madras, the Commissioner of Police can himself issue such a warrant.

9. In clauses 6 and 7, which relate to the detention of girls in suitable custody by a court, or by the police, pending an order of the court, we have thought it necessary expressly to provide that the detention shall be either in a reform house provided by the Government or in case any other suitable custody is chosen by the court, that such custody shall not be that of a person belonging to a religious persuasion different from that of the rescued girl. In clause 7 we have also provided that as soon as a girl has been brought before a court, orders as to her further detention should be passed by the court itself and not by the police.

10. As the original Bill was restricted to the City of Madras, section 9 referred only to bringing or importing women or girls into the City of Madras. As we have extended the provisions of the Bill to the whole Presidency we have made the necessary changes in the clause so as to make it applicable to the whole Presidency.

11. In clauses 9, 10 and 11, we have omitted the words 'with whipping or' as we consider that in this country a punishment which has been given up in respect of other criminals should not be inflicted even upon offenders against this Act.

12. Clause 12 of the Bill refers to solicitation or molestation irrespective whether taking place in public streets or not. We have made it applicable only to solicitations or molestation in public streets or places.

13. In clause 13, we have made it incumbent upon the Local Government to provide a suitable room, home or house for the custody and detention of girls removed under this Act, and we have also provided that in making rules for the custody of girls, such custody shall be of persons of the same religious persuasion as the removed girl.

14. We consider that the changes we have effected are very important and that the Bill as amended by us should be republished.

MINUTES OF DISSENT.

I.

I consider that the Bill as shaped by the Select Committee is defective in this respect.

Any legislation for the suppression of immoral traffic in women and children will be unsatisfactory and ineffective unless provision is made for the punishment of the person who controls a prostitute and lives on the earnings of the prostitute. There cannot be any objection to legislation for punishing any person for such earnings on the ground of impropriety or inexpediency. The exploitation of female destitution and helplessness for personal gain should not be allowed to go unpunished in any civilized community. The only caution that must be observed is to exclude from the purview of the Bill the class of persons who have to reside with prostitutes on account of relationship but do not abet the prostitution or control the movements of the prostitute.

The essential ingredients of an offence of this class are (1) intimate association for gain, (2) direction or control over the prostitutes' movements, and (3) abetment of prostitution. Where these conditions are satisfied, there cannot be any reasonable objection to provide for the punishment of this class of offenders. The clause relating to this class of offence is an indispensable supplement to that relating to the keeping of brothels. It is not unlikely that the traffic in women will simply change shape and flourish in spite of the suppression of brothels unless and until this class of offence is made punishable under the Bill. It is therefore necessary to insert a new clause in the Bill to the following effect:

"Whoever knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of a prostitute and exercises control, direction or influence over her movements in such a manner as to show that he or she is aiding, sheltering, or compelling her prostitution shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000 or with both."

This clause is a great improvement over the corresponding provision of other enactments.

The corresponding section, section 6 of the Calcutta Act, runs thus:

(1) Any male person who knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to three years or with whipping or with both of these punishments and also be liable to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) Where a male person is proved—

(a) to be living with or to be habitually in the company of a prostitute, or

(b) to have exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute, in such a manner as to show that he is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any other person or generally, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, that he is knowingly living on the earnings of prostitution.

Section V of the Bombay Act and section VII of the Burma Act are almost identical in form as that of the Chittis Act. The corresponding provision in the English Enactment is to be found in section 1 of the English Vagrancy Act of 1848, 61 and 62 of Victoria, Chapter 39 as amended by 2 and 3 George V, Chapter 20, sections 7 (1) and 7 (4).

By these statutes it is provided that whoever knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution shall be punished. Where a male is proved to be living or habitually in the company of, or proved to have exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in such manner as to show that he is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any other person or generally, he shall, unless he can satisfy the court to the contrary, be deemed to be knowingly living on the earnings of prostitution. Whoever being a female, for the purpose of gain, exercises control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in such manner as to show that she is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any person or generally shall be punished.

I hope to achieve the above object by moving an amendment in the Council when the Select Committee report is taken for consideration.

II

We consider that the Bill as shaped by the Select Committee is defective in two respects :

(1) The Bill does not provide for punishing a person who makes a living out of the earnings of a prostitute.

(2) It does not provide for punishing any person who keeps or manages or acts or assists in the management of a place of assignation.

Any legislation for the suppression of immoral traffic in women and children will be unsatisfactory and ineffective unless provision is made for the punishment of the person who controls a prostitute and lives on the earnings of the prostitute. There must be any objection to legislation for punishing any person for such earnings on the ground of impropriety or inexpediency. The eradication of female destitution and helplessness for personal gains should not be allowed to go unpunished in any civilized community. The only caution that must be observed is to exclude from the purview of the Bill the class of persons who have to reside with prostitutes on account of relationship but do not abet the prostitution or control the movements of the prostitute.

The essential ingredients of an offence of this class are : (1) intimate association for gain, (2) direction or control over the prostitute's movements, and (3) abetment of prostitution. Where these conditions are satisfied, there cannot be any reasonable objection to provide for the punishment of this class of offenders. The clause relating to this class of offence is an indispensable supplement to that relating to the keeping of brothels. It is not unlikely that the traffic in women will simply change shape and flourish in spite of the suppression of brothels unless and until this class of offence is made punishable under the Bill. It is therefore necessary to insert a new clause in the Bill to the following effect :—

"Whoever knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of a prostitute and exercises control, direction or influence over her movements in such a manner as to show that he or she is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution, shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000 or with both."

The corresponding section, section 6 of the Calcutta Act, runs thus:—

(1) Any male person who knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to three years or with whipping or with both of these punishments and also be liable to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) Where a male person is proved—

(a) to be living with or to be habitually in the company of a prostitute, or

(b) to have exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute, in such manner as to show that he is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any other person or generally, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, that he is knowingly living on the earnings of prostitution.

Section V of the Bombay Act and section VIII of the Burma Act are almost identical in terms as that of the Calcutta Act. The provision in the English Nuisance Act is to be found in section 1 of the English Vagrancy Act of 1835, 61 and 63 of Victoria, Chapter 39 as amended by 2 and 3; George V, Chapter 20, sections 71 and 74.

By these statutes it is provided that whoever knowingly lives wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution shall be punished. Where a male is proved to be living with or habitually in the company of, or proved to have exercised control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in such manner as to show that he is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any other person or generally, he shall, unless he can satisfy the court to the contrary, be deemed to be knowingly living on the earnings of prostitution. Whoever being a female for the purpose of gain, exercises control, direction or influence over the movements of a prostitute in such manner as to show that she is aiding, abetting or compelling her prostitution with any person or generally, shall be punished.

Clause 6 of the Bill provides protection for a girl living in a place of seclusion. Clause 10 provides protection for any woman or girl detained in a house for the purpose of prostitution. The Bill should make provision for punishing any man or woman who keeps or induces or aids, or assists in the management of a place of assignation. This can easily be achieved by the insertion of the words 'place of assignation' after the word 'brothel' in clause 5 in all places where the word 'brothel' occurs in this case.

The person in charge of place of assignation makes money by permitting it to be used for the purpose of prostitution; but as the house may not habitually be used for purposes of prostitution it may not come under the definition of the word 'brothel' as defined in the Bill. It is desirable to bring the places of assignation also within the purview of the Bill.

1. In section 4 (c) I am for omitting the word 'a' between the words 'Presidency Magistrate or' and the words 'Magistrate of the first class' so as to make it clear that for the purposes of this Act a Magistrate is a salaried Magistrate whether in the City of Madras or in the mofussil.

2. In section 4 (e) I would substitute the word 'prosecution' for 'indiscretion' wherever it occurs.

3. In section 5 I would fix the punishment as imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both.

1. I was only elected to this select committee to take the place vacated by Mr. W. O. Wright on his resignation from the legislature and only had the opportunity of attending one meeting of the committee. Hence I was not able to make the following suggestions in committee.

3. This Bill aims at the suppression of traffic in vice; its objective is the third party. The most noticeable feature is its omission to deal with the 'souteneur' the person who lives partly or wholly upon the immoral earnings of a woman. He or she need not be a procurer, and hence does not necessarily come under the provisions of clause 11. Yet the 'souteneur' is one of the most noxious elements in the whole business. The Committee of the League of Nations dealing with the protection of women and children reported this month and drew the attention of the members of the League to the importance of ensuring "that legislation and its application is effective in bringing the souteneur to justice . . . the granting of powers for the prompt arrest of such persons; of inflicting penalties suited to the dangerous character of their national and international activities; and of applying special repressive measures in the case of repeated offences."

This report is the result of a study of legislation in almost every part of the world, and it is clear that this Bill should bring 'souteneurs' within its scope. To leave them out is to leave an important gap in the necessary legislation. It ought to be possible to penalise the souteneur without in any way interfering with those who are the legitimate dependents of prostitutes.

5. The option of a fine should not be allowed in the punishment of procurers or souteneurs. Once the guilt is proved, surely a term of imprisonment is the least penalty that it merits, and in the case of procurers, many of whom are well-to-do, a fine is not a sufficient deterrent. I am also of opinion that whipping should be inflicted on male procurers or 'souteneurs' in the event of a repeated offence.

4. Clause 12 regarding solicitation is, as it stands, most dangerous to the liberty of the individual. Solicitation per se is not usually regarded in English Law as an offence. It only becomes one (a) when it amounts to an actual obstruction or molestation of the individual to whom it is addressed or (b) when it is of such a character as to offend against decency and good order, and so become a nuisance. The powers given to the police in the existing clause are altogether too wide especially in view of the fact that solicitation in this country is not widespread or serious. The recent Report of the Street Offences Committee in England indicates the difficulties in dealing with this matter, and I suggest the following:—

"12. Whoever (1) in any street or public place importunes any person for immoral purposes in such manner as to cause obstruction, annoyance or danger to the residents or passengers or

(2) frequents such street or public place for the purpose of prostitution or of solicitation, so as to constitute a nuisance shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both."

5. I do not think that there should be a statutory obligation upon Government to provide suitable rescue homes. The Bill provides the machinery whereby girls below a certain age may be rescued from brothels. The Government certainly ought to provide a place of detention where girls removed under sections 6 and 7 of the Bill can be kept pending the disposal of their case and the final orders of the magistrate. This place should be quite distinct from the place to which the girl is finally committed. Rescue homes should be established by private initiative, and aided by Government in the form of capital or equipment grants. If necessary, it may be made a statutory obligation for Government as to assist such homes; but to lay the whole burden of initiative on the Government is to relieve the community of a responsibility which properly belongs to it.

Those who promote this Bill should not imagine that their work is done by passing legislation on the Statute Book. It is but begun, and it is their duty to carry their campaign to its logical conclusion by the establishment of homes of rescue and training for the unfortunate children and girls whom they desire to help.

I believe very strongly that the object of the Bill will be frustrated to a large extent, if persons who live on the earnings of prostitution are not punished.

BILL No. 16 OF 1928.

A Bill for the Suppression of Brothels and Immoral Traffic.

(As introduced by Select Committee).

Preamble.
